RUINS OF BABYLON.

The arrival of Capt. Henry Austen, of the ship Persia, from Asia, has afforded a most curious and uncommon treat to our biblican antiquarians and historians. This gentleman is equal in intelligence and enterprise to any traveler that ever went forth to foreign parts. While he was navigating the Persian Gulf, he conceived the bold design of ascending the River Euphrates, from Basra to Bagdad. With great expence, and labor, and at the risk of his life, from the difficulties of the ascent, and the barbarous character of the inhabitants, he penetrated Persia for five or six hundred miles

During this expedition he visited the territory on which ancient Babylon is supposed to have stood, and succeeded in bringing away fragments of the ruins which overspread the ground. These consist of several of the bricks which are supposed to have been materials in the Temple of Belus; some of the cement with which they were connected; and a parcel of the broken reeds which were interposed with the mortar, to render the structure more firm and durable.

The bricks are in good condition, even after the lapse of three thousand years and more. They are of large size, being thirteen inches square, and four inches thick. Being now of the softer quality, they appear to have undergone some process of decay; but they bear traces of fire, that is of having been kiln burned, as well as sun burned. Near the middle of each is a parallelogram of four and a half inches, by 6, impressed with literal or hieroglyphical characters. They appear to have been very regularly and beautifully done. The characters are different from every known alphabet. All the lines are straight, and there are no crooked strokes. They are evidently arranged in perpendicular columns. All the bricks seem to be marked with the same signs. Of these signs, or characters there are seven vertical rows, and seven distinct marks in each row, making forty nine in the whole. Some of them are repeated several times.

It is believed that they are not susceptible of interpretation by any man living; but that they extend our researches far beyond the era of history, or the period of known symbols. This conclusion, derived from the face of the articles, confirms the genuineness of the offering capt. Austen has made to the learned world, by bringing home those wonderful remains. The scholar may reflect that the materials survive both the language spoken at the time they were moulded, and the characters which represented the sounds of that language. He may even look back through the vista of ages to the time when "the whole earth was of one language," and when "the city and tower" of Babel were begun; when the sons of men said one to another, "let us make brick and burn them "thoroughly;" and when "they had brick for "stone, and slime had they for mortar." All may, without any violation of probability, suppose these relics to be parcels of the primitive brick, and the inscriptions, or rather impressions upon their surfaces, to be the memorials of that remote time, "when the whole earth was of one language and of one speech." And he may further conjecture that they, both the language and writing are illegible and unknown, because the "Lord did there confound the language of all the earth." Monuments of this kind are now submitted to the view of our admiring citizens, with all their confirmatory evidence.

The pilgrims of Persia, by permission, lately obtained from the military despots of the country, made devout visits to the tomb of the prophet Daniel, situated many miles in the desert. Our intrepid and intelligent countryman, has brought to New York, a brick, with its inscription, from the door of that resort of the religious. It is of secondary moment whether the legend is true or fabulous. Such a place is at this day famous in the East, and a relick of it is presented to the curiosity of the West.

There are various other remnants of oriental antiquities, which the writer forbears at this moment to mention.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Very interesting additions to natimal history.

The political employment of our citizens contributes, in an eminent degree, to the increase of our knowledge. Colonel Samuel Hawkins, agent for the commissioners to settle the boundary line with the British has brought many things from the north-western regions he has visited; among others, there are two of great importance to be well understood. One is a parcel of the seeds of the fausse avoine, (false oats) or wild rice of the lakes, called, by botanists, Zizania Aquatica. The grain which col. H. has brought is in the husky state, in the naked condition stripped of the husk; and in the form it assumes by maceration in alkaline ley for human food. In this latter preparation it somewhat resembles maize, and is considerably associated with rice, partaking of the good qualities of both. This important plant deserves to be domesticated; it already affords a spontaneous harvest to the natives. There can be no doubt the Zizania will be the bread corn of the future white inhabitants bordering on Huron, Michigan, and their tributary waters. This enterprizing gentleman is entitled to the thanks of his countrymen for introducing among them a grain of such high value and excellence for increasing the nourishment and sustaining the vigour of man. It is so extensively in use that the numerous tribes who live upon it were originally named by the French colonists fausses avoines, an appellation they bear to the present day.

The same gentleman has also presented to the New-Yorkers a treat they never had until now, the famous white fish of the lakes. He and major Roberdeau brought an actual specimen in good order from the foot of the falls of St. Mary, at the outlet of lake Superior. On examination, this delicious animal, the pride of the lake, turns out to be the toothless Salmon, (salmon edentutæ) of a kindred species to that which governor Frederick sent some years ago from Surinam to Europe. Remarkable to tell, in the lakes of North America is a fish of a kindred species, with a mouth as unarmed as that of a herring, with a skin and scales as bright and shining as those of a shad, and with every other mark and character of a true salmon. The scientific and epicurean world owe to col. H. their hearty thanks for the treat of the fish itself, and for the means of describing and classing it according to the rules of ichthyology. What a theme of contemplation are the fisheries of the lakes.—Nat. Advocate.

AUGUSTA. (Geo.) Dec. 29.

EMIGRATING WESTWARD.

As an evidence of the continued emigration of persons to the Alabama, a gentleman, directly from that Country informs us, that, as he came in, he met, in 9 days travelling, 141 waggons, 102 carts, 16 stages, 14 gigs; 2 coaches, 29 droves of cattle, 27 droves of hogs, and 2 droves of sheep; these were all bound for the Alabama, and most of them for the neighborhood of Fort Claiborne—and they were all met between a place called the Burnt Corn Spring, thirty miles this side of the Alabama and Fort Hawkins, which distance our informant was nine days in travelling—and he observes, that with the waggons and carts, there were pretty generally, large families. He supposes, from the number of persons altogether, he should be within bounds, to average twenty persons to a waggon, and ten a cart, this, including those who were on horseback, he supposes would be within bounds, and if so, the whole number of persons met, would be three thousand eight hundred and forty. Our informant, from his knowledge of the country, is of opinion, that the current of emigration is such, that considerable inconvenience will be experienced by the new settlers, for want of provisions, as he thinks the crops have not been equal to such an increased population; and he supposes a few cargoes of rice from the southern ports, to that quarter, might afford an acceptable relief.

Advices on Saturday reached Lloyd's, of the capture, on the 6th ult. off Cadiz, of the Cuencia, a Spanish vessel, from Havanna, by the Potosi privateer, from Buenos-Ayres, after a sharp action—The Cuencia was laden with colonial produce, and 21,000 dollars for the Cadiz merchants. The Potosi carries 6 guns, and has a crew of 150 men, all natives of the United States, with the exception of one Spaniard. The commander is John Chase, of Baltimore, the same person, we believe, who was recently tried and acquitted in America, on a charge of piracy, for having detained one of his own country vessels, under the commission he holds from the Buenos-Ayres government. The crew and passengers of the Cuencia, 51 in number, were put on board of an American ship, and arrived at St. Uœs on the 9th. Several of them were wounded—some dangerously. [The Potosi has arrived at Norfolk.]—Palladium.

Russia.—A journal is published twice a week at St. Petersburgh, called the Northern Post, which contains a very liberal article on the liberty of The Press. It is under the direction of the ministry of the interior, and is written in the Russian language. The efforts of the government to promote internal and external trade, building ships, &c. are as mighty as the empire is vast.

From a late London Paper.

The lioness that attacked the Exeter mail coach, remains, according to the last accounts, in the hovel under the granary into which she was pursued. It is thought she may not be in a hurry to leave this lurking-place, as she has got the dog she killed to feed on. Whether she was afraid of her prey being taken from her, or from some other cause, she continued for some time after she had entered the hovel, roaring in a dreadful manner. Her howlings were heard to the distance of half a mile. The guard of the mail-coach was urged to fire his blunderbuss into the hovel and despatch her, and he once seemed prepared to do so, when the owner of the beast loudly called to him—for God's sake not to kill her, for she cost him £500, and she was tame as a lamb if not irritated.

Lord Byron has, it is said, taken his departure from Italy, to revisit the coast of Albania, and thence his favourite scenes in Greece. During his retreat amidst the romantic scenery around Geneva, his delight, says a private letter, was to sail on the lake whenever its surface was particularly agitated; and he has been known to continue on it a considerable part of the night, exposed to the violence of the storm, contemplating the awful horrors of the scene.

Boston, January 1.—From the expedition of Capt. Tuckey to the interior of Africa, the defeat of which by the death of Capt. Tuckey, and his companions and officers announced in our paper yesterday, great expectations were entertained. He was to ascend the river Congo, with the hope of meeting Maj. Peddie, who has ascended the Gambia, and was to follow nearly the track of Mungo Park to the Joliba. No news has been heard of Peddie, since he left the Gambia, and it is greatly to be feared he will meet no milder fate than his fellow adventurer. Should this expedition prove fruitless, as there is reason to fear it will, it will probably, and it ought to discourage further attempts to penetrate the secret recesses of Africa.—Many lives have lately been lost in these fruitless enterprises and the object in view is not of sufficient moment to justify any further sacrifices.

From the Washington City Gazette.

The negotiations between France and Petion have terminated, it would appear, unfriendly to the French interest, as the president of Hayti has addressed a very animating speech on the occasion, to the people, where the resolution to defend their rights is emphatically repeated; and all attempts to conquer them are derided. France will have to abandon any project she may have formed to recover St. Domingo; even allowing that it was practicable to effect a conquest, by force of arms, because it is not the wish of her allies, particularly G. Britain, that she should receive any additional colonies beyond those already restored to her.

It will be also recollected, that fortuitous circumstances gave that island into the hands of the blacks, and during a long continual war, they have employed themselves in fortifying their ports, and taking such steps to organize an efficient form of government, that, at this day, would be found difficult to destroy. The climate and the means of defence, renders them secure from foreign invasion; and negotiations, have already proved ineffectual.—It would, therefore, be the interest of France, to open a commercial arrangement, on terms of reciprocity, with the island; and she would have exclusive privileges, which would eventually be of more real utility than incurring unnecessary expenses in organizing expeditions which must result unfavorably.

Accounts from Germany, state, that their manufactories are all in confusion. England has inundated the continent, with such a quantity of manufactured articles, that they cannot find vent.—Calicoes are selling so low that they supercede the use of linen—one of the chief articles of German, manufactory. The nation declare that this hostile invasion must be repelled, as this manufacturing equality and commercial freedom is dangerous to their prosperity.

PITTSBURGH.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 17, 1817.

On Tuesday last, E. DENNY, esq. was unanimously re-elected mayor of this city, by a joint vote of the select and common councils.—John Pentland, was re-elected treasurer—M. M'Eown, weighmaster, at market—Thomas Davis, weighmaster at hay-scales—John Hankart, guager and inspector of tobacco—and C. C. Febiger, inspector of pot and pearl ashes.

John Robinson, Matthias Evans and Daniel Hunter, were elected regulators of the streets and lots.—John Roseburgh, Archibald Richmond and Wm. Graham, jun. measurers and inspectors of boards and scantling.

The Legislature of Indiana adjourned on the 3d inst. after a session of two months. Among others, they passed an act, incorporating a company to open a canal around the falls of Ohio on the Indiana side. The stock authorized, is a million of dollars; operations to commence within one year and to be completed in seven; the charter is to be in force until 1858, and then the canal, subject to become the property of the state at a fair purchase, exclusive of the water works on the margin of the canal.

EARTHQUAKE.

The Vincennes paper of the 30th ult. says, that a Shock of an Earthquake was severely felt in that place on the 16th.

Liberality—Subscription papers are now in circulation in Boston, to raise funds to establish in that town, a general and insane hospital. It is stated in the Boston Gazette of Thursday, that subscriptions already obtained for this object, amount to eighty-four thousand, eight hundred and two dollars—an instance of generosity we believe, unequalled in any town or city in this country.

The legislature of Virginia have resolved to present the widow of captain Blakely with a sword, as a testimonial of the sense which they entertain of the merits of that gallant officer, and to provide for the education of his son at the public expense.

On the 14th inst. near Plattsburg, while a waggon was passing, a tree fell across it, between two men on the seat and the horse—but hurt neither, although the waggon was broken to pieces!

The Legislature of South Carolina adjourned on the 19th ultimo. Among others, they passed an act the more effectually to prevent the pernicious practice of gaming. The fine enforced on every person keeping a gaming house or gaming table, 2000 dollars: any person betting is finable in the sum of 500 dollars. The games of billiards, whist, backgammon, or drafts, are excepted.

On the 4th inst. the honorable A. C. Hanson, appointed a senator by the legislature of Maryland, produced his credentials in the senate of the U. States, which were read and the oath prescribed by law was administered to him, and he took his seat.

A valuable tree....A Mr. Hinsdell of Bennington, Vermont, (says the Boston Gazette,) cut down an Elm tree last spring, which suppiled his family with fuel during the whole summer, and left him twelve cords towards his winter supply. The tree yielded forty-eight ox-team loads.

It does not appear to be generally known that in the state of Ohio the fifth congressional district has elected a conspicuous Federalist, general Philemon Beecher, vice James Kilbourn. General Beecher's talents as a lawyer are highly celebrated in the state which he represents, and he is likewise distinguished for his probity and independence.—Daniel C. Cooper, esq. as decided a federalalist as any man in the western country, is elected a state senator. We are gratified to find such symptoms of the resurrection of federalism in the west.—Fed. Rep.

If it so happen, that the compensation law of last session shall be repealed during the present session of congress, and a new one passed, allowing the members six dollars a day during the time of their attendance, and the same sum for every twenty miles each has to travel on his return home, it will operate to give a very handsome increase of compensation to the members of the present congress. Suppose the present mode of compensation to cease by the repeal of the law on the tenth day of January: the members from New-York, will receive, at the rate of $1500 per annum, or a little more than four dollars per. day, until that day, and about six hundred and forty dollars for the remaining fifty-two days of the session, and the journey home, which may be performed with convenience in four days; while under the present law, they would only be entitled to about two hundred and eighty dollars. Balt. Fed. Gaz.

A London paper gives the fashionable half-dress, for September.r From this we suppose the ladies there, like some of them here go half-naked.

VEVAY, (Indianna) Dec. 13.

Indian purchase.—It is now believed that the commissioners will succeed in making a purchase of the Delaware Indians of all their lands within this state, the consent of the Miamies and Pottawatimies having been obtained.

This body of land, about fifty millions of acres, is the best in the western country—the most part superior to the Miami purchase in Ohio.

From the Boston Palladium, Jan. 3.

Extract of a letter to a gentleman in this town, dated U. S. ship Washington, Gibraltar Bay, Nov. 14.

"We arrived at Algiers, Oct. 12th, where I was hospitably entertained at the house of Mr. Shaler. It is a most singular place; but for a description of it, wait till you see my face and journal. Mr. Shaler left them, and is now on board our ship. If we are not at war, we are hardly at peace with them. Lord Exmouth's attack was terrible. The batteries were much injured, but were nearly repaired when I saw them, the Algerines are so ant-like. We next set our faces towards Gibraltar.

We leave this place shortly and proceed again up the Mediterrenean—destination not known. It is said we shall go first to Mahon. We expect to go where we went before, and also to ports in France and Spain. You know as much, probably as I do about the chance of a war with Spain and Algiers, and of the commissioners to make a new treaty with the latter. We do not expect fighting, and hope to return home next summer."

Capt. Snow arrived at Newport, from Gibraltar, informs, that the Dutch had increased their fleet in the Mediterranean which was in very fine order; and a few days previous to the sailing of the Chauncey, a Dutch frigate had arrived, bringing out the gallant admiral of that nation who fought so bravely before Algiers. He had been created a nobleman, with many additional titles. The American squadron was in fine health and spirits. The Algerine fleet that was destroyed by the English, had not been got up, except one vessel, and she was irreparable.

The U. S. sloop of war Peacock, capt. Rodgers, was to sail from Gibraltar, the first fair wind after Nov. 15, for some of the Eastern ports. [Does it mean in the Mediterranean or the U. S.?]

The report that Lt. Kuhn had been killed in a duel, is untrue. He was at Mahon, when capt. Snow left the Mediterranean.

Capt. Gordon was entombed at Messina with military honors.

The ship Sea Lion, at this port from Batavia, was boarded off the island of Ascension on the 27th of Oct. from the British frigate Horatio, just from St. Helena, bound to England. The boarding officer informed that Bonaparte was well, but not in good humor—that some of his servants had been detected in endeavouring to get on board a British merchant vessel bound to the Cape of Good Hope: and that it was supposed Bonaparte was scheming to escape.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATITES,

MONDAY, Jan. 6

Petitions, and other, business of the house of minor importance, having been gone through—

Mr Forsyth offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on the national currency be instructed to enquire, whether the president and directors of the bank of the United States have adopted any arrangement, by which the payment of the specie portion of the second instalment can be evaded or postponded: and if such arrangement has been made, the expediency of adopting some regulation, by which the payment of their portion of the second instalment may be enforced, at the time required by the act of incorporation; or within a limited time thereafter.

AUTHENTIC CONFESSION FROM WASHINGTON.

Disclosure of Mr. Randolph, in his place, on the floor of the house of representatives:

"The time has arrived when there is no longer any necessity for suppressing the fact, that the grand armory of Richmond, in Virginia, was built with an eye to putting down Mr. Adams' administration with the bayonet, if it could not be accomplised by other means."

Let those who make such an uproar about the Hartford Convention, read this declaration of Mr. Randolph, and then to breakfast with what appetite they may.

We understand that Bonaparte has been very communicative of late; let our administration look out! Fed. Rep.

AN ACCOUNT OF LEE'S
Patent and Family Mddicines;

Celebrated for the cure of most diseases to which the human body is liable,
PARTICULARLY

Worms,
Coughs and Colds,
Asthma,
Consumption,
Gout,
Rheumatism,
Sprains,
Palsy,
Head ache,
Tooth ache,
Corns,
Itch,
Diseases of the Eyes,
Ringworms, Tetters, &c.
Inward weaknesses,
Nervous Disorders,
Female complaints,
Hooping cough.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers.

The proprietor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

In sickly times or places, a dose should be taken every fortnight, and if there is reason to apprehend personal danger, it may be taken once a week.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S
Worm Destroying Lozenges.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of a similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is, its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent and is so mild in its operation, that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach or bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many other fatal disorders.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the "vomiting and purging of children," a dreadful disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness, having a pleasing appearance and an agreeable taste.

HAMILTON'S
Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders
Consumptions
Lowness of Spirits
Loss of Appetite
Impurity of the Blood
Hysterical Affections
Inward Weaknesses
Violent Cramps in the stomach and back
Indigestion
Melancholy
Gout in the stomach
Pains in the Limbs
Relaxations, &c

The principal operation of this remedy is in the stomach, restoring the digestive powers, and sending forth from that organ new health and vigor into every part of the system; it enriches and purifies the blood without inflaming it; braces, without stimulating too violently, the nervous system; strengthens the secretory vessels, and the general habit, brings back the muscular fibres to their natural and healthy tone: and restores that nutrition which immoderate evacuations had destroyed, and whose loss had thrown the whole frame into langour and debility.

HAMILTON'S
Essence & Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, asthmatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c.

This valuable remedy is prepared both in a fluid state and in pills, and thus excellently adapted both for external and internal use.

ITCH CURED,
By once using Lee's Sovereign Ointment.

The proprietor informs those persons and families who are suffering under this disease, (against the infection of which no person is safe) that if this ointment is used at night on going to bed, it never fails to perform a cure by the following morning, as thousands who have used it during the last ten years can testify. The peculiar excellencies of this infallible remedy for the itch, over every other, are the certainty of a cure by a single application: the ingredients being so innocent as to be applied with perfect safety to the tenderest infant, and its being not only free from any offensive smell, but equally agreeable with the pleasantest pomatum.

THE GENUINE PERSIAN LOTION

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, in preventing and removing blemishes of every kind, on the face and skin, particularly freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs tetters, ringworms, sunburn, prickly heat, &c

THE RESTORATIVE POWDER,
For the Teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts & strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them

THE SUBSCRIBER
Offers For Sale,

The following property, viz.

36 ACRES of ground on Coal hill below the mouth of Sawmill run. From this ground there is a beautiful view of the city.

108 acres, three miles from Greensburgh. This is good land covered with timber, which on account of being so near town makes it more valuable than if clear.

243 acres on the left bank of the Ohio river, sixteen miles down from the city. On this tract there is about fifty acres of bottom on the river, cleared and wrought by a tenant. The rest is timber land, nearly all capable of being cleared and wrought, and suitable for pasture ground.

200 acres of very rich unimproved land, within eight miles of Meadville.

An undivided fourth part of about seven hundred acres in the state of Kentucky. This is very valuable being the seat of the town of Greensburg; the county town of Green county, and situate on the bank of Green river; which is navigable from many miles above the town to the Ohio.

I will sell also a four years lease of a mill for driving grindstones. This is situated at the mouth of Sawmill run, one mile from town.
